A FURIOUS business owner was forced to shut up shop for two days after a group of travellers set up camp outside his warehouse.

David Davison, managing director of 1st Call Mobility, said his staff turned up at work on Saturday morning to find the company's head office in Barrows Road surrounded by caravans.

Mr Davison claimed his employees were unable to enter the building as the main entrance was blocked by a mobile home and the back door was being used as a toilet.

"I was stunned; the building was completely surrounded and my staff couldn't even get in," he said.

"I tried to reason with the travellers but all I got in return were threats and verbal abuse. They were an incredibly aggressive, intimidating bunch."

Mr Davison contacted the police and Harlow Council but said he was given "short shrift" by both.

"The travellers were behaving like animals, ripping down our signage and chucking paint around," he said. "At one point they even set off our intruder alarm, but the council said there was nothing they could do and although the police eventually turned up to talk to them they really didn't seem that bothered about helping us."

FURIOUS: David Davison

Police arrest car driver after cyclist dies in crash

A WOMAN has been arrested on suspicion of causing death by careless driving after a cyclist was killed in a road collision in Harlow on Monday evening.

The accident happened at about 7pm as the 62-year-old victim – who had not been named by police as the Star went to press yesterday but who lives in Harlow – was cycling along Elizabeth Way.

As he approached the junction with Parndon Mill Lane the cyclist was in collision with a blue Vauxhall Corsa. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

The 31-year-old female driver of the car, also from Harlow, was not injured.

She was subsequently arrested on suspicion of causing death by careless driving and released on police bail until September 19 while police continue their inquiries.

Anyone who witnessed the incident is asked to contact the Serious Collision Investigation Unit at Boreham on the non-emergency 101 number or email collisionappeal@essex.pnn.police.uk.

Homes plan for former lab site

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

PLANS to bulldoze the vacant Merck, Sharpe & Dohme laboratories to pave the way for a major new housing development on Harlow's doorstep are set to be approved next week.

Speculation over the future of the American pharmaceuticals giant's former research and development centre at Terlings Park has been rife since the facility was closed in 2005, with original plans to sell the site for business use scrapped some time ago due to lack of viable demand.

Then in May of last year the company submitted an outline planning application to East Herts District Council seeking consent to transform the 29-acre site into a residential development. In June this year the site was sold to Angle Property in a deal worth £11.6m.

The new owners have wasted little time in pushing the project forward. Outline proposals for a 270-dwelling scheme comprising a mix of two, three, four and five bedroom homes, three apartment blocks and expansive areas of public parkland have now been recommended for approval by EHDC's development control committee.

The application proposes to use the existing access road off Eastwick Road as the entrance to the development, while plans for new footpaths and cycleways linking the site – which is based just over the county border in Gilton – with Harlow are also mooted.

The developers have also indicated they are willing to make off-site highway improvements to Burnt Mill Lane, which could include traffic calming features, widened footpaths and a new pedestrian crossing on the A414 to provide safe access to the nearby bus stop.

Tony Williamson, managing director of Angle Properties, said: "Terlings Park has huge potential to become a fantastic and unique development and we feel these proposals make the best use of the site. The scheme will bring much-needed new homes into the locality while protecting the fundamental character of the site's beautiful parkland setting."

"Our plans also include expansive green spaces and woodland areas, all of which will be open for the public to enjoy, while we have also proposed making important off-site highway improvements that will benefit Harlow residents."

Harlow Council has raised no objections to the plans, which have also been welcomed by local MP Robert Halfon, who said: "If we could make more use of brownfield sites like Terlings Park then there wouldn't be as much pressure to build on green spaces."

He added: "There will inevitably be some people worried about the impact of the development on local services, but I'm confident it will bring real benefits to Harlow's economy."

A day to remember for torchbearer Anne

OUT IN FRONT: Anne Wafula-Strike carries the Paralympic torch during its 24-hour relay around London

INCREDIBLE but emotional – that's how disabled athlete Anne Wafula-Strike summed up the experience of carrying the Paralympic torch.

The Kenyan-born wheelchair racer, of Willowfield, Harlow, was part of the torchbearer team during its 24-hour relay through London last Wednesday.

"As I was doing my relay I was so excited and waving at the crowds but also the whole time I was thinking of all the people that have never had the opportunity to play sport," said Anne (43).

"It made me really appreciate how fortunate I have been to have had those opportunities and I want to do more to help other people to fulfil their sporting potential."

As well as taking part in the torch relay, Anne – who narrowly missed out on a place in the ParalympicsGB squad – has been a regular TV commentator on the Games.

"I am doing some work for ITV now and have also presented from the BBC studios at the Olympic Stadium which was great," she said. "I was also overwhelmed to be voted the seventh most inspirational Paralympian in the world by the Sunday Mirror this week – it is just incredible."

She added: "Great Britain is leading the way to showing what people of all abilities can achieve and I am so happy to be a part of it."

Businessman's frustration after travellers set up camp

When the travellers finally left the site on Monday evening they dumped rubbish including soiled nappies, smashed crockery and empty gas canisters in the car park – and even hurled a smashed-up TV set into bushes.

"The mess they left behind was absolutely disgusting," said Mr Davison. "It was like they had been there three months, not three days."

"There were smashed bottles, filled nappies and empty cans everywhere and the whole area stank like a public toilet."

It is believed the travellers came to Harlow to seek hospital treatment for one of their group and had originally set up camp on playing fields near Nicholls Field for several days before being moved on by Harlow Council.

They then relocated to the business park on Friday evening, telling Essex Police they planned to move on by Monday afternoon.

According to police, the owner of the site agreed to wait until Monday before taking any action against the travellers for trespass following advice from the police and the council.

A police spokesman added: "We were called back to the Barrows Road site on Monday afternoon following reports that an intruder alarm at one of the business units had been set off. However, officers attending the scene found no evidence of criminal activity."

"Police later returned to the site at around 9pm and found the group had moved on."

But Mr Davison said he had been left unimpressed by the police response.

"I've lost two days of business because of this but no doubt the travellers will get away scot-free," he said. "They have absolutely no respect for anyone and they know they won't face any repercussions. It's incredibly frustrating."

AS dusk settles across Harlow and many prepare to call it a day, thousands of the town's more diminutive residents are only just beginning their nightly ritual.

For it is under the cover of darkness that Harlow's bat population leave their roosts to begin the task of catching the many hundreds of insects needed to satisfy their hefty appetites.

But while most will set about the task with ease, there are a few who rely on the work of a group of hardy wildlife enthusiasts to help them get back into the skies.

Every night volunteers at the Harlow Bat Hospital, which officially runs under the Essex Bat Group, dedicate hours of their time to helping injured bats learn how to fly again.

Working in a specially built flight cage at Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the helpers will release around 10 bats a night to monitor their progress and enable them to regain enough strength to be re-released into the wild.

"The main reason for bats being taken in is because they have been injured, usually by other animals like cats," explained volunteer Chester Jones. "It could also be because they have been orphaned or were unable to get enough food because of bad weather conditions.

"Essentially, any bat found on the ground often needs urgent help, which is what we are here to provide."

Hundreds have been taken in over the summer, with 90 being admitted to the 'hospital' during July alone. "It has been a particularly busy year, partly because of the wet weather but also because of greater public awareness about what to do if you find a bat," said Chester.

The hospital for creatures of the dark night

"There is a lot to do as ideally we need to get them all re-released where they were found before the end of September so they can settle back into their roosts before hibernating for the winter,"

Other duties carried out by the group include feeding the animals, taking them to receive veterinary treatment, responding to rescue callouts, conducting surveys and running free educational bat walks at Parndon Wood Nature Reserve. "It is a lot of fun and a great feeling every time we release a bat knowing it had been a death's door a few weeks before," added Chester.

"Essentially our aim is to save the lives of as many bats as possible whilst also continuing to educate the public about them so everyone can enjoy these wonderful creatures."

If you find a bat in need of help call Jan Rigg – founder and rescue co-ordinator of the Harlow Bat Hospital – on 07734 265 571. For more information about the Harlow Bat Hospital or to offer your service as a volunteer, visit the group's website at www.essexbatgroup.org.uk.

Book a place at refs' fundraiser

A RED carpet but no red cards – that's the plan for Harlow Referees Club's next charity dinner and dance.

The group have gone all out with the fundraising event, which will include a canape reception, casino tables, three-course meal, charity auction, comedian, magician and disco.

Tickets for the event, which takes place next June at the Stansted Hilton Hotel, cost £35 each. All proceeds will be donated to St Clare Hospice in Hastingswood.

Society secretary Karen Innes said: "Following the success of this year's event which raised £750 for Essex Air Ambulance, I am sure it will be another great evening raising even more money for a wonderful, local cause close to the heart of the community.

"We are delighted to be able to raise money to help St Clare Hospice with its ongoing work."

To secure a place or for more information, contact Karen on or email innes.karen@yahoo.co.uk.

Open day success for cat sanctuary

SEVEN former 'residents' of the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary are happily settling into new homes following a successful open day over the bank holiday weekend.

The annual event, which aims to increase the animal shelter's profile as well as raise funds and find new homes for some of its cats, had one of the biggest turnouts to date.

"We want to say a big thank you to everyone who showed their support by coming along," said Gill Beard, manager of the sanctuary at Thornwood Common near Epping.

"It was wonderful not only to see so many people but also to re-home seven of our cats and kittens. Over £700 was raised as well, which will go towards the cost of caring for our animals."

Gill said that although it had been a good day, the shelter had already taken in nine more cats. "We are already back to being full," she said.

Hospice lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, August 31 is ticket holder 196839, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 583481, who also lives in Harlow.

Pin-up pets to feature in vets' charity calendar

PHOTOGENIC animals could win their owners prizes in a charity calendar competition being run by a vets surgery in Harlow.

Companion Care Harlow, based at the Pets At Home store in Edinburgh Way, is encouraging owners to submit original snaps of their animals.

The top 12 pictures will be featured in the calendar in aid of Pets' Corner in the Town Park, with owners receiving a copy of the final printed version and a free booster vaccination for their pet as a prize.

Those who submit the judges' first and second favourite photographs will also win a digital photo frame, with the best photographer also receiving a free falconry experience.

"It is the first time we have ever run anything like this but if we get a good enough response we hope to make it an annual charity fundraising event," said deputy manager Rob Foster.

"Ideally we are looking for fun pet pictures, so the more arty and imaginative the better. They can be funny or serious but they must not feature any people.

"It is also a good idea to consider the different months and what kind of photos would best illustrate them. We have already had a few sneaky Santa suit and beach entries."

The closing date is September 30 with winners announced during October. Photos must be high resolution digital images and sent in jpeg format to Harlow@companioncare.co.uk with the subject titled 'Photo Competition'. Owners must also include their full name and address, their pet's name, age and breed in the email.

County Hall to publish details of all it spends ESSEX residents will soon be able to see how every penny of their cash is spent by the county council.

ECC leader Peter Martin told Tuesday's cabinet meeting the authority would begin publishing the information online from next Wednesday. Councils have to reveal any spending over £500, although the Government has indicated it is looking to reduce this to £250 later this year.

However, ECC will publish monthly details of all payments made to and by officers. These will include payments made by purchase cards – the council's equivalent of a debit card – and any expenses claimed by employees.

CLr Martin said: "I have always vowed this council would be open and transparent with its residents and there is no better way to show this commitment than publishing everything we spend online."

"Every resident has a right to know how the council is spending their money. Every spending decision is taken very carefully and taking this step shows we have nothing to hide."

"I believe we are one of the first to take this bold approach, but I hope it is one that others follow soon." Information will be placed on the council's website within two weeks of the end of each month. Where payments have been made to individuals, such as employees or foster carers, their names will not be published.

What a load of rubbish

HARLOW Council has launched a crackdown on litterbugs in a bid to drive down spiralling clean-up costs.

Picking up discarded cigarette ends, food wrappers and other rubbish currently costs the town's taxpayers £800,000 a year, money the council wants for other services.

Yesterday (Wednesday) the authority illustrated the scale of the problem by filling the Summers paddling pool with two weeks' worth of rubbish collected from streets and open spaces.

Jon Clempner, the council's portfolio holder for environment, said the cost of clearing up litter over the fortnight would have paid for two of the town's paddling pools to remain open throughout the summer holidays. "If everyone would just put their litter in a bin instead of mindlessly dropping it on the floor we could save thousands of pounds a year – and that money could be used to fund vital services for the whole community," he said.

"If we didn't pick up litter the town would be swimming in it. This just shows how much litter is dropped on our streets."

The crackdown will see the council targeting litter hotspots across the town, with community safety officers stepping up patrols and issuing £80 fixed penalty notices to offenders.

Awareness campaigns will also be running in schools, Harlow College and local community groups, while 30 new litter bins will be placed in key areas.

"The majority of residents are responsible with their litter, it is the minority who are not," CLr Clempner added.

"There is no excuse to not use a litter bin or take your litter home and litterbugs need to be aware how much their actions cost them."

Shopper's agony after tripping on a car park sensor

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HEALTH worker who tripped over a raised parking sensor and broke her wrist in two places has branded them a safety hazard.

Sue Mayes (56), pictured right, said what was meant to be a quick Saturday morning shopping trip turned into an "absolute nightmare" that has left her requiring an emergency operation to reset her wrist, forcing her to take time off work.

The sensors were installed in spaces at The Water Gardens car park in Harlow town centre earlier this year.

"I had just finished the shopping and was on my way to meet my son," said Sue, of The Glebes.

"As it was early and most of the car park was empty, I just automatically walked through the parking spaces without thinking and before I knew it tripped, landing heavily on my wrist."

"I knew straight away I had done something serious as I was in absolute agony. I must say it didn't help that I was ignored by passers-by for the first five minutes, although eventually a very kind lady and gentleman came to my aid, notifying the security guard who called for an ambulance."

Sue was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital, where doctors confirmed she had suffered two fractures and would require surgery.

"What made me really angry was that while I was at the hospital the nurse told me I was the third person to have been admitted to hospital that week after tripping on one of those sensors!"

"They have just been so poorly designed. Why would they not have made them flat? It just seems so unfair that because of this new system, which seems to have only been put in place to make the car park more money, I have been left in excruciating pain and unable to work.

"All I wanted to do was the shopping!"

Centre manager Beryl Murphy said: "We are very concerned that a few of our customers have injured themselves by tripping up in our car park recently."

"When the system was first installed we made sure there was ample warning for customers about the sensors and that these were clearly visible by way of bright yellow collars painted around each sensor."

"However, to try to prevent any further accidents, we have already taken corrective action by replacing those on the lower deck of the car park with submerged sensors and are currently reviewing our options of how to improve the sensors on the upper deck. We have increased the number and visibility of customer warning notices and enhanced the high visibility collars around each upper deck sensor."

"We are working closely with contractors to resolve any issues there may be with the newly installed sensor parking system."

Town police seeking man seen 'acting suspiciously' near children

POLICE investigating reports of a man seen approaching children in Harlow have released a description of the person they would like to question about what they describe as "suspicious behaviour".

The first incident took place in Katherines Way shortly before 6.20pm on Monday when a man was seen trying to coax a 10-year-old boy over to him.

Less than three hours later, a man tried to persuade a 12-year-old girl in Sycamore Field to approach him.

The man is described as white, aged 35-45 and of stocky build with short grey hair which may also look blond. He may have access to or own a red or burgundy coloured family size saloon-type vehicle.

Inspector Tony Smith said: "We are investigating incidents of suspicious behaviour where the descriptions are very similar.

"We would like to hear from anyone who knows of a man who specifically fits the description and may be using a vehicle similar to the one mentioned to get in contact, particularly if you have a registration number."

Anyone with any information should contact Inspector Smith at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Thieves' taste for cooking oil

RESTAURANTS and catering businesses in Harlow are being urged to review their arrangements for the storage of used cooking oil.

Police believe that thieves are targeting storage areas of eateries in the town to steal large quantities of oil before selling it on the black market for conversion into bio-diesel.

Ballroom glitz for dance school's anniversary

MEMBERS of a Harlow dance school celebrated its 35th anniversary the way they know best - by dancing through the night.

More than 70 people enjoyed an evening of food and dance to celebrate the birthday for The Evans School of Ballroom Dancing.

The school, which runs weekly classes at St Thomas More Church Hall in Hodings Road and Holy Cross Church Hall in Traces Road, was first set up by amateur championship ballroom dancing couple Stephen and Hazel Evans in 1977.

Since then they have taught hundreds of people to waltz, tango and cha cha cha their way around the dance floor.

"Even after all this time we are still a flourishing dance school with a fantastic group of dancers in their teenage years right up to their 80s," said Stephen.

"Ballroom dancing is great fun, and shows like Strictly Come Dancing have really helped to heighten its profile in recent years."

He added: "We had a fantastic evening and want to thank everyone who came to celebrate our 35th birthday with us. Their ongoing support is really appreciated."

We're being bombarded by dog mess

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

LONG-suffering residents living next to a youth housing project have reached the "end of their tether" after having carrier bags full of dog excrement hurled into their neighbourhood.

According to the group living in Dad's Wood, litter being thrown over the fence from Occasio House has been a problem for some time.

But things recently came to a head when bags of dog mess were found strewn all over the lawns outside their homes.

"I found the first couple of bags a few weeks ago and was absolutely appalled," said one resident, who asked not to be named. "I went straight to the manager at Occasio House who was very apologetic.

"She said she thought she knew who was responsible and would be getting the problem rectified straight away. However, this week I found yet more bags of the stuff which had obviously been launched from one of the windows.

"We are already having to put up with the constant litter throwing and noise from that place but this really is a step too far. It is absolutely disgusting."

HEALTH HAZARD: One of the bags that residents say has been thrown from Occasio House

Mum Kirsty Chambers said the bags of excrement were a health and safety concern.

"I already try to avoid walking down the alleyway between Dad's Wood and Occasio House with my three-year-old because it is so filthy," she said.

"Kids will get into anything and it is full of rubbish, broken glass and even dirty nappies.

"To see that there are now bags of dog excrement being thrown over is very worrying. Not only is it unpleasant for all of us living in Dad's Wood, but it is also potentially dangerous. Young children could get seriously ill if they came into contact with it."

When approached by the Star about the complaints this week, East Thames - the housing association responsible for running Occasio House - said they were aware of the "anti-social behaviour incident" and pledged to take immediate action.

"The resident responsible will be permanently leaving the foyer over the next fortnight," a spokesperson said.

"We have apologised to our neighbours and are working with them to fix any damage caused and return their gardens to their original state."

Views sought on future of health services

HARLOW residents are being given the chance to help shape the future of local health services.

The GP-led West Essex NHS Clinical Commissioning Group will be holding a series of open meetings in conjunction with local councils across the area to discuss planned changes to services for older people as well as emergency and urgent care.

One of the meetings, which is open to individuals as well as voluntary groups and other organisations, takes place at the Civic Centre in The Water Gardens on Monday, September 17 from 5.30-7pm.

CCG chairman Dr Rob Gerlis said: "We are working on a number of radical changes over the next three years. One example is developing joined up health and local authority teams providing care for older people at home and in care homes, avoiding the need for a hospital stay.

"We are looking at similar improvements in children's services and redesigning our network of emergency and out-of-hours services."

The CCG is made up of 39 general practices in Harlow, Uttlesford and Epping Forest, covering a population of around 289,000.

I was cleared of murder, but my life is in ruins...

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG man who claimed his life had been ruined after he stood trial three years ago for a murder he did not commit has been ordered to pay £400 compensation to his former partner after smashing a window at her home.

Carl Manton (21), of Bishopsfield, Harlow, was cleared of the murder charge but suffered after being released from jail, where he was held on remand for 10 months while waiting for his trial.

Chelmsford Magistrates Court was told on Thursday the false allegations related to a fire in a block of flats at Bush Fair, Harlow, in May 2005 in which 24-year-old Kerry Youngs died and her boyfriend, Kevin Chapple, suffered devastating injuries. Manton was one of two teenagers accused of starting the blaze.

After being cleared following a crown court trial in 2009 he returned home. But the court was told by his counsel, Lauren Bond, that people still accused him of murder and although his girlfriend had supported him she had also called him a "murderer."

Shelley Deutch, prosecuting, said that on July 14 this year Manton had gone to his former girlfriend's home and started shouting and swearing at her.

Mr Deutch said: "While outside the door he was shouting at her 'where's my  money?' A neighbour heard him say 'murderers do that, I'm a  murderer.' He threw a stone, again saying 'I'm a  murderer'."

Manton pleaded guilty to criminal damage and disorderly behaviour. In mitigation, Miss Bond told the court: "Four years ago he was charged with murder and after a six-week trial involving him and a few other people the prosecution case proved he was not guilty. The judge made it clear this person hadn't committed the offences.

"However, his life was effectively ruined. He spent 10 months in prison on remand and he came out with most people still accusing him.

"His ex-partner called him a murderer and he made the comments sarcastically and threw a stone towards the building."

Referring to Manton's previous convictions, she said: "As a result of the original allegation of murder there have been other offences where people have confronted him and started a fight with him following the false allegation."

After hearing of Manton's problems, district judge John Woollard ordered him to pay compensation for the broken window.

SO HAPPY TOGETHER: Fred and Rene Holgate (photo: HAR0856747)

Loving couple waltz their way to 72 years of married bliss

A COUPLE who dance together stay together, according to Fred and Rene Holgate - and they should know.

For this week the couple, who live in sheltered accommodation in Harlow, celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary.

After first clapping eyes on each other in a London dance hall, Fred (101) and Rene (91) were married in Tottenham on August 31, 1940.

"We have been dancing together since we were 18 and have had a wonderful and very happy life," said Rene.

"We were never blessed with children but the great friends we have met through our dance groups, and our many nieces and nephews have kept us busy over the years."

Although Fred was forced to hang up his dancing shoes due to ill health a few years ago, Rene says it hasn't stopped her husband from entertaining the crowds.

"Fred has always been a performer," said Rene. "On our anniversary our neighbours organised a lovely party for us and it didn't take long for Fred to do a rendition of his favourite song, When Your Old Wedding Ring Was New. It went down a treat."

Rene added: "The key to a successful marriage is doing things together and accepting there will always be some give and take.

"It's nice to know this far down the line that I chose the right man at the dance hall that night."

Aldi's arrival will be welcomed by many

SIR, I struggled to relate to the letter attacking the proposed Aldi store against my experience of the original application (Letters, August 23). Many, many Mark Hall and Netteswell residents actively support having a store like this at The Stow. It will bring supermarket variety, including fresh fruit and vegetables, and supermarket prices to their doorstep, avoiding lengthy bus journeys or expensive taxi rides. It will be the existing supermarkets that will suffer, not the local convenience stores.

It will attract more people to The Stow and the range of small shops against which Aldi will not be competing – the pharmacies, dry cleaners, bakers, launderette, restaurants, electrical appliances store etc. There will be a strong physical link between the store and the shops to promote and draw more people to The Stow – and it will smarten up an old and neglected corner of the town.

I suspect your correspondent is confusing Aldi with the big four retailers. Aldi only sells a limited range of quality products at ordinary prices; they do not sell cigarettes or newspapers which are mainstays of the convenience store. They only open between 8am and 8pm and deliveries will be made outside of those times specifically to avoid the rush hour, a ruthless business plan to save time and money.

More rubbish? The writer clearly has not been to The Stow of an evening, awash with fast food wrappings and drinks containers. More traffic? Does the writer not recall that the site was a petrol station for its first 50 years?

My neighbours and I welcome a store like Aldi, just like the council did when they approved an earlier application for a store on this site.

Social housing should be built on old school site

SIR, I see that Essex County Council is going to sell off the old Passmores School site (Star, August 23).

I hope that if this goes ahead homes for social housing will be built, as homes on the old swimming pool site and the Sportcentre site have only limited social housing.

Housing should be for our young people and should be affordable, not for people out of town.

I have two daughters both earning reasonable wages but who will never be able to afford to live in Harlow due to the high prices of property and rental prices.

Let's hope the council gets behind this and states we need more houses for rent for locals.

Council does not have to implement benefit cuts

SIR, Cllr Mike Danvers denies making the comments on the proposed cuts in Council Tax Benefit attributed to him in the Star and quoted in my letter of August 23.

He asserts that the words "people are encouraged to work" and "thrift is rewarded" are the opinion of the Government as reported in a council press release.

It is more than a little strange that a Labour council should decide to recycle Tory-Lib Dem lies in a press release. If it is indeed the case that Cllr Danvers neither uttered nor wrote the words in question, then I am sure that I am not the only person wondering why he chose not to insist that the Star print a correction.

However, those who have read Harlow Council's leaflet concerning the proposed cuts may be forgiven if they are disinclined to accept the protestations of Cllr Danvers as good coin. For said document states: "We wish to provide an incentive to work".

If the Labour majority on Harlow Council genuinely opposes Government cuts in Council Tax Benefit, then perhaps it should refuse to implement this grievous attack on some of the poorest people in our society. This would be in the interests of all workers, for cuts in benefits

THE simple beauty of a drop of rain on a leaf was captured by reader Kay Ives in this stunning photograph.

"It was taken on August 25 in my back garden following a downpour of rain followed by some sunshine," said Kay, of Corner Meadow, Harlow. "I just loved to see my Japanese maple covered in raindrops that were highlighted by the sun. Hope your readers like it."

Do you have a photograph taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

Email a high resolution copy in jpeg format along with a brief description of your photograph along with when and where it was taken and your name and address to: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line of your email.

act to drive down wages.

According to North East Hertfordshire Labour Party, councils do not have to apply the cut in Council Tax Benefit in this way. They could, for example, minimise the cut by finding some money from elsewhere, or they could put up the council tax, or both.

In 1921, 30 councillors from Poplar Borough Council in London were imprisoned when they refused to either increase rates or make cuts. Mass pressure forced their release and caused the government to pass a law equalising rates burdens between rich and poor boroughs.

Maybe Harlow Council should aspire to emulate Poplar.

NIMBYs have every right to express their concerns

SIR, I read with interest the letter from Cllr Tony Hall (Letters, August 23). In a comparatively short missive he was able to sound arrogant, patronising and condescending with almost no discernible effort.

We, who he dismisses collectively as NIMBYs, are obviously not allowed an opinion on the development of Harlow without earning his derision.

Harlow is to be the site of major expansion. Current East Herts Council and Epping Forest Council proposals could increase the town by 25 per cent i.e. 20,000 houses x two people per dwelling equals 40,000 people.

These planned sites, which can be found on their respective websites, surround Harlow, with development sites including Sumners, Katherines, Harlow Common, Sheering, Hastingwood, Eastwick, Hunsdon and Gilston. I realise that, according to the councillor, I am not worthy of having an opinion, but could he give his opinion on how we solve the minor insignificant concerns this lowly NIMBY has the temerity to voice?

Traffic: the proposed developments could see an increase of 40,000 to the population of Harlow. It is not too big a leap to assume each adult will have a car, ergo an increase of 40,000 extra vehicles.

Epping has already insisted that no traffic should have direct access to its road network. If all these 40,000 extra people do is go to and from work, this is 80,000 extra journeys every day. How will our already overstretched road network cope?

Sewerage: it is my understanding that Roydon Mead sewerage facility is working at almost full capacity, with evidence of this being leaking manhole covers in various sites.

We have to invest in this facility before the proposed development. Or do we wait until we are up to our neck in it before the problem is addressed?

To conclude, should these and a myriad of other issues such as a hospital, schools, doctors, dentists etc not be addressed prior to the start of these proposed developments, Cllr Hall is absolutely correct. Please, Not In My Back Yard!

College students' success is a tribute to principal

SIR, I would like to thank all staff at Harlow College who committed their time, efforts and skills into supporting my daughter which has enabled her to achieve her ambition of attending university to study to become a teacher.

The college's inspirational teaching staff and management obviously believe in their students and ensured they had every learning opportunity, offering extra support and classes when necessary. Their level of teaching expertise and commitment enabled my daughter and others to achieve and realise their maximum potential educationally, affording them lifetime opportunities and choices they may not have had.

It is well documented that when principal Colin Hindmarch arrived in 2007 he faced enormous difficulties and had to contend with a bitter industrial dispute. A lot of staff did not have faith in his ideas for improving the provision of further education so they disrupted students' education with five days of strikes and 80 staff quit.

How satisfactory it must be for Mr Hindmarch and all present day college staff to have provided the teaching environment that enabled students to not only achieve brilliant A-level results in 2011 but increase by 12 per cent A*-C grade, in all subjects in 2012, with increased top grade results which bucked the national trend.

As a parent I would like to send my congratulations and grateful thanks to Mr Hindmarch for his vision and belief that Harlow College students were capable of achieving the same A-level results as the so-called best schools. You were right.

Council Tax benefit is changing

Have your say before 16 September!

As part of the Government's Welfare Reform programme Council Tax benefit will be replaced in April 2013 by a local Council Tax support scheme. Harlow Council will have less money available for the scheme. How can we best ensure support is given to those people who most need it?

Our proposals include:

- Pensioners are protected from any reduction to their benefit payments
- All claimants will pay a minimum of 20% of their Council Tax bill
- The level of earnings before benefit payments are affected will be raised to £25 a week for everyone
- The maximum level of savings below which claimants can still apply for support will be reduced to £6,000

Have we got it right?

Go online, view the full proposals and let us know your views at www.harlow.gov.uk/LCTS
Paper copies of the proposals are available at Contact Harlow, Civic Centre, Water Gardens, Harlow, CM20 1WG or at your local library.

This consultation started on 6 August and ends on 16 September 2012.

New test centre for trainee electricians

APPRENTICE electricians can now complete their training in Harlow following the launch of a new assessment centre this week.

Based at Trade Centre Training in Harris House, Pinnacles, the facility will give local trainees the opportunity to take their AM2 – the industry's driving test equivalent for electricians – in the town and take their first steps towards a career as a qualified sparkie.

Around 150 apprentices are expected to be assessed at the centre over the next 12 months, increasing to 200 in 2013.

According to City & Guilds, electrical installation is now the most popular vocation training course in Britain, with nearly 100,000 training nationwide.

Colin Harris, managing director of Trade Centre Training, said: "With the Government's strengthened focus on apprenticeships, it's vital we give skilled young people a chance to seek a career in a rewarding sector. "The AM2 reinforces the fact that the electrical sector is both professional and modern. We can't wait to support employers in our area and help local trainees prove their skills closer to home."

The AM2 is recognised by the electrical industry as the benchmark of an individual's occupational competence.

It is run by National Electrotechnical Training, a not-for-profit body whose main objective is to secure the vocational training needs of the UK electrical installation industry.

Bike boom as success starts chain reaction

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW bike shop is hoping to capitalise on an Olympics-inspired cycling boom after opening in Harlow town centre.

Team GB's impressive medal haul at the Games and Bradley Wiggins' historic Tour de France win have encouraged more people to take to two wheels than ever before – and West Square-based Wheel Power is perfectly placed to help them get on their bikes.

The shop stocks a huge range of mountain, road, hybrid and BMX bikes as well as micro-scooters, accessories, apparel and safety equipment. An on-site workshop offers expert repair, maintenance and aftercare services.

Although the store has only been open for six weeks, owner and keen cyclist Mansue Fouladgar, pictured right, said business was already booming.

"Obviously the phenomenal success of the Team GB cyclists at the Olympics and Paralympics has had a huge impact on the general public," he said. "But people are becoming increasingly frustrated with the spiralling costs of petrol, car insurance and repair bills.

"When you choose to leave the car at home and hop on your bike to travel to work instead, you're not only doing your health a world of good, you're saving a huge amount of money, too.

"A new bike might seem like an expensive buy but if you use it regularly it pays for itself in a matter of weeks."

Mansue, who also runs a chain of sport shops in London, said Harlow's extensive network of cycle paths made the town the ideal location to set up shop.

"To be honest I couldn't believe there wasn't a dedicated bike shop in the town centre already," he said.

"It's just the perfect location – with all the cycle tracks in Harlow there's no easier way to get around and the skatepark is always rammed with kids showing off their BMX and scooter tricks.

"Hopefully we can convince even more people to take up cycling, save money and improve their fitness. It's all about getting outside and enjoying life."

Hotel reaps rewards of gym refurb

A HARLOW hotel is hoping to outmuscle the competition after splashing out £85,000 on a major refurbishment of its on-site gym and swimming pool. The Park Inn Hotel, in Southern Way, has already seen a healthy boost in profits and membership numbers at its Innation Health & Fitness Centre, which now boasts a 20-station gym, swimming pool, sauna, spa whirlpool, fitness studio and sunbeds.

The centre was outsourced to private firm Leisure Connection Hotel & Private Management in October 2011 and a 10-month programme of joint investment into upgrading the facilities has seen membership rocket by 30 per cent.

Steve Bambury, head of hotels at Leisure Connection, said: "We are delighted that our partnership with Harlow Park Inn has proved to be so profitable and we are confident that our expertise will continue to help increase growth for the Harlow Innation site.

"The centre's facilities are fantastic and provide the local community with a real fitness hub."

Kieron Golding, hotel manager at Harlow Park Inn, added: "There is no doubt in my mind that the considerable investment and expertise provided by Leisure Connection Hotel and Private Management has boosted profits for our hotel.

"Not only has the company transformed our leisure facilities, they have also actively engaged our community and helped to increase interest in our site as whole."

Dad was a teacher at my school

(but it didn't stop me getting told off!)

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WHETHER you loved or hated it, school was always a refuge from the watchful eye of your parents. Unless, that is, one of your parents also happened to be one of your teachers.

This was the case for reader Maggie Beensen, who brought in this photograph she found of her father – Harry Dunn – who taught at Tany's Dell School which she and older brother Peter attended.

"It didn't really give us any special privileges having dad as a teacher," said Maggie, of The Chantry, Harlow.

"Apart from being allowed to walk down the front drive of the school – which was quite good – I also got to help with the register from time to time, but that was it really. It certainly didn't stop me getting told off!"

She added: "We didn't know any different. And, of course, we were never put in his class, although I have heard from old pupils since that he was a good teacher.

"Even 20-30 years on I have had people contact me to say they remember my dad and

1987 From the Star 25 years ago

☛ Storms caused havoc with telephones in Harlow over the weekend. British Telecom engineers faced a 50 per cent increase in call-outs as hundreds of residents found themselves without a connecting telephone line. The Star editorial office also ran into difficulty after a power surge caused by lightning created chaos to the switchboards.

☛ Cruel tricksters stole £6,000 from an 83-year-old woman on Monday after pretending to be council officials. Police say the three men, who had Irish accents, called on a number of homes in the Fold Croft and Orchard Croft area and are warning people to be extra vigilant.

☛ Long suffering Old Harlow residents living near Cheeks nightclub have been looking back on the quietest weekend of the year. Many thought that last week's front page story in the Star highlighting their plight was the reason. The residents had said they were forming a vigilante group to patrol the area, but are now reconsidering the move.

how much they loved being in his class."

She has many fond memories of her time at the primary school, particularly of the school dinners. "I know some people have said previously in your articles that they hated the school lunches but I loved them.

"Chocolate pudding and pink custard were great! I'll always remember the school tuck shop and spending a tuppence on Jaffa cakes every day.

"Another memory that has always stuck in my mind was when a teacher we had from New Zealand – I can't remember his name – came on stage in some end-of-year assembly in full traditional dress and performed the haka. We were all gobsmacked and just rolled around laughing!"

Maggie added: "The other thing I remember is the regular visit to the school nurse which every school had back then.

"She would make us take these pink tablets that would stain your teeth, I think to show if you had eaten sugar. I wonder if anyone else remembers having to do that?"

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Harlow market

COME rain or shine, traders working at Harlow's town centre market would man their stalls and serve their customers.

At least according to Jo Joicey, who got in touch after reading Nostalgia's recent articles which started with a photo of Vinney's refreshment van.

"I used to work on the Ellis fruit and veg stall," she explained. "I remember one year in the winter time when the snow was really bad I walked to the town to work on the stall. We ended up being the only stall trading that day!"

"We managed to last a few hours until I was sent home by Eric the manager."

She added: "Christmas time was great. Our stall often had mince pies and sausage rolls which I would take round to the other stalls. It was a lovely atmosphere.

"I often bought flowers from Steve Webb's stall and went to Vinney's for coffee or tea.

"I wonder how many people will remember Inglis hardware shop and Webb's, the bike and pram shop?"

Festivalgoers try to Ketchup!

THOUSANDS of revellers painted the town red during a festival described as the 'world's biggest foodfight' last week.

Almost 40,000 people from across the globe flocked to the small Spanish town of Bunol, near Valencia, to take part in wacky tomato-throwing party La Tomatina.

More than 120 tons of red fruit were squashed, pulped and pulverised as goggle-wearing participants splattered each other in the town's main square during the event, which has been held annually for the past 67 years.

Although the origins of the celebration are unclear, it is thought to have its roots in a foodfight between friends in the town's marketplace during a religious parade back in 1945.

The group picked up tomatoes from a nearby fruit and vegetable stall and started hurling them at each other before being arrested by police.

They were made to pay for the damage they had caused, but exactly one year later they gathered in the same spot armed with baskets of tomatoes and staged another foodfight.

Repeated year after year, it steadily grew in popularity until the town hall eventually declared it an official festival and introduced a set of rules to prevent anyone from getting hurt.

The festival is now a huge tourist attraction, with thousands of people from as far afield as Australia, New Zealand, South Korea and India descending on the town every year to take part.

It certainly makes a bit of a mess, but once the village's cobbled streets are hosed down they return to their sparkling condition, with the acidity of the tomatoes acting as a natural disinfectant.

Rafael Perez, spokesman for the town of 10,000 inhabitants, told reporters: "La Tomatina has been here since 1945 - we don't have much space but there is no other way."

PAH ranks badly in cancer care survey

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital has been ranked among the worst NHS trusts in the country for cancer care, according to a league table published by a leading charity.

Macmillan Cancer Care compiled tables of the best and worst performing hospital trusts based on a national survey of cancer patients carried out by the Department of Health.

PAH came fourth from bottom in the list of 160 NHS hospital trusts across England.

According to the survey, only 53 per cent of the hospital's patients felt there were enough nurses on duty, while only 49 per cent said family members had been given the opportunity to speak to a doctor.

In addition, only 34 per cent said they were offered a written assessment and care plan and just 43 per cent received information on getting financial help.

A hospital spokeswoman said the trust had worked hard to make improvements – including better signage, a new patient and visitor forum and compulsory customer care training for staff – in the nine months since the survey was conducted.

"We are reviewing the findings from this recent survey to establish where improvements can be made at PAH, at the other hospitals where many of our patients receive their treatment and at the trust," she said.

"However, while we recognise the importance of this survey and its results, we have worked closely with patients, their relatives and staff to make significant improvements in the nine months since the survey was undertaken."

Macmillan has also partnered with PAH to create a £6.7m cancer support centre, which is due to open in 2014.

Macmillan chief executive Ciaran Devane said: "Patient experience is one of the Government's five key measures for success in the NHS, so trusts need to take heed and work with Macmillan and others to urgently improve the care they offer cancer patients."

"I am encouraged many trusts are taking this seriously."

Changes to the law on housing rights

Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice provides specialist advice and tribunal and court representation on matters involving benefits, housing, employment and debt. Information on a range of other subjects is also available. Appointments can be made to see specialist advisers and solicitors. Contact the service on (01279) 446622 or by calling in at the Advice Centre, 2 East Gate, The High, between 10am and 1.30pm on weekdays. Out-of-hours appointments and home visits are available if necessary.

THE law about housing rights in relation to homelessness applications and applications to the choice-based letting/ waiting list has changed.

The major changes took effect from April of this year. If you are homeless and/or you are thinking about registering on the choice-based letting/ housing waiting list register, then you should get advice about your rights immediately.

If you are homeless and have nowhere to live you can apply to Harlow Council for assistance under the homelessness legislation.

Usually, the council will need to consider your application by applying five tests concerning your eligibility, homelessness, priority need, intentional homelessness and local connection.

The enquiries into your homelessness application can take up to 33 working days.

If the council then recognises it has a full homelessness duty towards you, it can discharge this duty by offering you a tenancy in the private sector.

The private sector tenancy must be reasonable. It is in your own interest to seek advice immediately if you are offered a private sector tenancy in discharge of the homelessness duty. Under the old rules, applicants were able to refuse offers of accommodation in the private rented sector. This is no longer the case.

Central government has given local authorities more power and greater freedom to decide who should qualify to go on the choice-based letting/ housing waiting list register. We do not know whether Harlow Council will change its policy regarding choice-based letting and so it is essential to seek specialist advice if you are prevented from joining the choice-based letting/housing waiting list register.

Local authorities must still ensure that social housing goes to the most vulnerable and those who need it most.

Finally, if you are accepted on the choice-based letting/ housing waiting list register and you are offered accommodation from the council's own housing stock, then the council can grant you a tenancy for a fixed term as opposed to a life-time tenancy which was previously the case.

The minimum length of tenancy is two years although in exceptional circumstances the council can grant you five years or more. The flexibility that central government has given to local authorities means the era of tenancies for life is over.

These changes apply only to council tenants whose tenancies started after the new legislation took effect in April 2012.

Revue to reach a wider audience

LOVE and death come under the microscope at Victoria Hall Theatre tonight (Thursday) as Harlow Theatre Company stage a provocative new revue.

The first show of its kind to be staged by HTC since the group relocated from Harlow Playhouse, Love, Death & The Whole Damn Thing promises to be a thought-provoking and frequently hilarious riff on the human condition.

Conceived and directed by HTC stalwart Bernard Moule, it features play excerpts, poems, songs and sketches focused on either, or both, of the show's themes.

"I have included material by Tom Stoppard, Dennis Potter, Bob Dylan, Woody Allen, Carole King and Rowan Atkinson amongst others, so there should be something for everyone," said Bernard. "The Grim Reaper and Cupid may also be paying a visit!" Recently appointed as HTC's new artistic director, Bernard said he was keen for the group to produce more revues in the future.

"I am hoping to increase our product output without sacrificing quality," he explained. "One way of doing this is to produce some revues to mix in with our normal programme of plays. We did this in the early days of the company when we were staging up to eight shows a year.

"I am also hoping that we may reach a wider audience with a revue and that they might return for our more standard fare."

● Love, Death & The Whole Damn Thing opens at Victoria Hall Theatre tonight (Thursday) and runs for three nights. Performances start at 8pm and tickets cost £10 (£8 concessions) from (01279) 420062 or 07973 679364.

Artists turn spotlight on life in a 'new' town

By CHRIS MOSS

ART imitates life in a bold new series of exhibitions exploring Harlow's hidden histories running throughout September.

A 12-month labour of love for resident artists at West Gate gallery Gatehouse Arts, Harlow Happenings re-evaluates the core principles of Sir Frederick Gibberd's masterplan and uncovers the fascinating stories behind some of the town's unsung heroes.

Featuring the work of four innovative local artists, the ambitious show has been split into three linked exhibitions running simultaneously at The Gibberd Gallery and Gatehouse's temporary spaces in East Gate and the Harvey Centre.

The first – titled Harlow Utopia – runs until October 4 at the East Gate Gallery and has been conceived by Emily Whitebread, who combines audio reflections on seven Harlow locations to compare Sir Frederick's original vision of a new town utopia with revised projections for the town's future provided by local youth groups.

The second – Gigacycle – features the work of Janetka Platon, who has spent the past year researching the pioneering work of Standard Telecommunications Laboratories – the Harlow-based firm credited with the invention of fibre optic communications.

Based in the former JJB store on the first floor of the Harvey Centre, the show features a jaw-dropping laser display and a series of photographic encounters charting the local and global impact of the discoveries made by STL staff.

The final piece of the jigsaw – Volunteers – is provided by Dash Macdonald and Demetrios Kargotis at The Gibberd Gallery. They have put together an exhibition telling the incredible stories of the dedicated individuals making up Harlow's army of volunteers and examining the struggles now faced by voluntary organisations in austerity Britain.

● Volunteers by Dash Macdonald and Demetrios Kargotis, and Harlow Utopia by Emily Whitebread, both run until October 4. Gigacycle, by Janetka Platon, runs until September 14.

LAWLESS certificate 18, 1h55m

BASED on a true story, Lawless knocks back a drink with three brothers who become kings of their close-knit community by running moonshine across the state line.

Set in early 1930s Virginia and adapted from Matt Bondurant's novel The Wettest County In The World, Nick Cave's script corrals its fair share of rootin' tootin' clichés to a fine bluegrass-tinged soundtrack.

In the mountains of Franklin County, local cops turn a blind eye to the illegal activities of Forrest Bondurant (Tom Hardy) and his siblings Howard (Jason Clarke) and Jack (Shia LaBeouf).

The brothers run a successful bar and eke out a comfortable living by trading moonshine, made at secret distilleries maintained by Jack's disabled pal Cricket (Dane DeHaan).

But the business empire is threatened when sadistic Special Deputy Charley Rakes (Guy Pearce) arrives from Chicago on a mission to shut down the distilleries at the behest of district attorney Mason Wardell (Tim Tolin).

As young love blossoms between Jack and preacher's daughter Bertha Minnix (Mia Wasikowska), Rakes sets about dismantling the brothers' operation from the inside, targeting weak links including dancer Maggie Beauford (Jessica Chastain) who has recently taken up a position as a waitress at the bar.

For all its dramatic simplicity, John Hillcoat's film packs a hefty punch, exploring the bonds of trust that are tested to their limit when the bootleggers are pummelled senseless by the long arm of the law.

Hardy delivers a brooding central performance, maintaining his stoic hard man image around Chastain's emotionally battered love interest. However, it's Pearce who scorches every mud- and blood-smeared frame as an obsessive-compulsive bully who hides behind his police badge.

Gary Oldman is underused in an eye-catching role as the suave mobster who Jack hopes to emulate.

LaBeouf's tender romance with Wasikowska sweetens Hillcoat's bitter pill but don't expect a happy ever after. When these varmints stray beyond the point of forgiveness, death is the only absolution.

DREDD (3D) certificate 18, 1h35m

IN the near future, America has been reduced to an irradiated wasteland and more than 400 million people are crammed into Mega City One on the eastern seaboard, which is patrolled by law-makers called Judges.

The Chief Judge (Rakie Ayola) asks universally feared Judge Dredd (Karl Urban) to assess rookie Cassandra Anderson (Olivia Thirlby), a mutant with devastating psychic powers.

Reluctantly, Dredd mentors Anderson and they head to the Peach Trees mega-block – home to 60,000 impoverished denizens – to investigate reports of a triple homicide. The Judges apprehend Kay (Wood Harris) for the murders and, using her abilities, Anderson surmises that the suspect is linked to sadistic dealer Ma-Ma (Lena Headey).

But before Dredd and his protegee can interrogate Kay, Ma-Ma locks down Peach Trees and orders the hoodlums and lowlifes in the building to kill the interlopers.

ANNA KARENINA certificate 12A, 2h10m

BEAUTIFUL yet bored socialite Anna (Keira Knightley) travels from St Petersburg to Moscow to provide emotional support to her sister-in-law Dolly (Kelly Macdonald), who has just discovered an affair between her husband Oblonsky (Matthew Macfadyen) and the family governess.

En route Anna meets Countess Vronskaya (Olivia Williams) and her son, dashing cavalry officer Count Vronsky (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) who is wooing Dolly's 18-year-old sister Kitty (Alicia Vikander).

At the latter's debutante ball, Anna shamelessly dances with Count Vronsky, sowing the seeds of her downfall. The wife returns to Moscow to her politically influential husband Alexei (Jude Law) but Count Vronsky follows, determined that Anna should run away with him despite the shame they would both bear for such a betrayal.

WIN ParaNorman backpack, stationary set and film tickets

IN ParaNorman, a small town comes under siege by zombies and only misunderstood local boy Norman (voiced by Kodi Smit-McPhee), who is able to speak with the dead, can help.

In addition to the zombies, he'll have to take on ghosts, witches and, worst of all, moronic grown-ups to save his town from a centuries-old curse.

ParaNorman is only the second stop-motion animated feature to be made in 3D.

This week we have teamed up with Cineworld Harlow to give you the chance to win one of five sets of ParaNorman backpacks and stationary sets as well as a pair of tickets to the film.

To enter, all you have to do is answer this question:

Who voices the part of Norman in ParaNorman?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab.

Be sure to enter 'Star ParaNorman' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

The closing date for entries is noon on Monday, September 10.

Why Overpricing May Leave You Out Of Pocket

As a seller, it is tempting to accept the highest estate agent's valuation you receive. However, there are sound reasons why you should avoid overpricing your home initially, as overpriced homes often end up selling for less than they otherwise might have.

First, buyers buy by comparison. Why should they buy your house if it is more expensive than a similar alternative? This simply does not make sense, and your property is unlikely to sell until such time as any competing homes have sold. By that time your house may have suffered overexposure and be going stale on the market.

Second, buyer activity is highest when the property is new on the market. If your price prevents buyers from seeing the house, you will have missed this opportunity and may have to wait some time before a suitable buyer is found. Competition between buyers drives up your price, whereas time on the market drives it down.

Sellers often say 'But we can always take an offer!' The problem with this is that if fewer buyers see your house, the chance of an offer being received is significantly reduced. The wrong price also attracts the wrong buyers, who have high expectations and are therefore unlikely to offer in any event. People tend to purchase a property at the top of their price range; so your likely buyer pool is people looking in a lower price range than your property, not a higher one. So don't scare away the right buyers!

Intense buyer activity in the early days of marketing is the key to achieving the highest price for your property, and our job is to help you stimulate such activity.

So be realistic. Be competitive. Quote the right price, stick to it, and you should readily secure the highest price for your home.

NOW in its third generation, Mitsubishi's Outlander has gradually evolved from left-field alternative to a compact SUV to something with the potential to give the current crop of affordable mid-size sports utility vehicles something to worry about.

With its streamlined stance and decidedly upmarket styling, Mitsubishi bosses are bullish about this Outlander's performance in the marketplace.

In isolation, it is a welcome step forward from the Japanese car maker. However, internally this model is more significant than the average buyer will ever appreciate.

The Outlander has been the subject of a significant weight-loss programme and has also been designed from the outset to accommodate both conventional engines and the new wave of plug-in hybrid technologies.

For now, though, the Outlander symbolizes a significant step forward in its own right. The weight reduction has been achieved without any compromise to the ownership experience, while the reward for the engineers' hard work has been meaningful efficiency and emissions gains.

The sole engine option will be familiar to Outlander fans as it's a modified version of what was in the second-generation car. The 148bhp 2.2-litre diesel unit has been reworked for its new home, with the result a useful 50mpg and a sub-150g/km CO₂ rating. From a performance angle the car will sprint to 60mph in just under 10 seconds, while top speed is 124mph. On the road the Outlander performs well and comes across as a genuinely competent all-rounder. There's a welcome maturity to the way it drives, – body control is well contained and overall refinement is pleasingly high.

There's no escaping the fact that the Outlander is diesel powered, but the car's cabin ambience is rarely disturbed by the engine's activity when at sensible speeds.

Factor in an easy to use all-wheel drive system that offers extra grip when the weather turns foul or for added security when you're towing and the Outlander's versatility is hard to ignore. This is an attribute also reflected in the car's ability to accommodate a growing family. Mitsubishi's engineers are keen to stress that the inclusion of a third row of seats turns the car into a genuine seven-seater.

The previous car offered a similar set-up but the reality was five-plus-two jump seats for small and co-operative passengers in the rearmost seats.

Granted, occupant space remains the best in the front followed swiftly by the second row, but those sitting right at the back now benefit from more space. Access to the rear via the folding action of the second row is also improved, while that second row splits 60-40 fashion to aid flexibility when carrying odd-shaped cargo when the third row is folded flat into the boot floor.

Seat gymnastics aside, the rest of the Outlander's cabin boasts more higher quality materials than previously plus some welcome soft-touch surfaces in a bid to boost the car's appeal.

This is cemented by the promise of a generous level of equipment, from a quality audio unit to the likes of leather, sat-nav, reversing camera, active cruise control and a lane departure warning system that will be optional depending on the trim level.

Boasting a stylish, streamlined appearance plus a revised cabin offering a much-needed and welcome high quality ambience, this third generation Outlander does many things right.

The substantial weight saving, promise of generous kit levels and tangible running cost savings are just some of the other achievements likely to put the Outlander on the shopping lists of many buyers.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Champs Billericay too good for Town

Billericay 275-4, Harlow Tn 240

Harlow Town lost by 35 runs
Shepherd Neame Essex
League, division three

ANY flickering hope Harlow Town had of marking their first year in the Shepherd Neame Essex League with promotion was dashed by champions Billericay. Billericay had already won the division three title before Saturday's clash at Blunts Wall Road. The hosts batted first and four of their top five did not reach 20.

However, Billericay's overseas player 24-year-old Kiwi Dave Houghton proved a thorn in Town's side.

He struck 131 not out and received valuable support from Paul Walter, who made 70 not out.

Billericay amassed 275-4 in their 50 overs despite useful bowling from Daniel Farmer (2-39 from 10 overs) and Ramya Upadhyay (1-21 from 10 overs).

In reply, Town's openers Shiraz Ali and Charlie Coleman both made starts before getting out for 16 and 29 respectively.

There after wicket-keeper Patrick Yates was the only one to play a significant knock, striking 88 in a lone hand.

The only other player to make double figures was Ashley Alderson who made 24.

Town's total was swollen by 61 extras which included 37 wides.

The visitors were bowled out for 240 in 48.1 overs. Town are fourth in the table.

The team play their final match of the season next weekend away to close neighbours West Essex.

Nationals into play-offs after securing league title triumph

HARLOW Nationals have secured the National Baseball League title.

The successful team, who won the National Championship in 2011, now have a play-off match against the London Mets who stormed into the NBCs with a resounding wildcard victory over the Lakenheath Diamondbacks.

In Harlow's last games of the season they defeated closest rivals Herts Falcons 10-3, before losing the second game 11-1.

This was enough to secure the National Baseball League title and with it the number one seed in the National Baseball Championships.

Had Harlow lost both games, Falcons would have snatched their place and progressed to the NBC play-offs.

A home run from Maikel Azcuy helped the Nationals, while Roberto Almanzar pitched a complete game.

He has posted an astonishing 14-0 record in the regular season.

Spot of luck for climbing Hawks

Witham Tn 0, Harlow Tn 1

Ryman League, division one north

DAVID RIMMER

reports from the Spicer McColt Stadium

THE character of an inexperienced Hawks side came to the fore as they ground out an excellent win at newly-promoted Witham Town.

Witham, who won last year's Essex Senior League title, missed a penalty as Harlow Town secured a vital win.

The hosts were skilful but lacked the killer touch against a well-organised Harlow defence in Saturday's clash at the Spicer McColt Stadium.

With skipper Donny Barnard ruled out with a groin injury and Mark Taylor also injured, Hawks boss Danny Chapman switched centre midfielder Getro Kilapi to right-back.

Stanley Muguo and Albert Levett were in central midfield, while Sam Deaney came in on the left and scored the game's sole goal on 59 minutes.

Witham were the better side in the first half but Harlow's defence dealt well with their movement and keeper Bertrand Bossu only had to make two regulation saves.

At the other end, Harlow were thwarted by the offside trap but came close to scoring on 21 minutes.

A corner was half cleared before Danny Brown's goalbound shot was blocked and Tony Jacobs poked the rebound wide.

Hawks new assistant boss Paul West-Hook said: "In the first half we struggled to stay in the game and we could not hold onto the ball.

"They had thrown everything at us but had not scored. That was a positive for us."

Piers Wixon replaced Jordan Knight on 53 minutes and this resulted in the home defence being stretched far more.

The deadlock was finally broken on 59 minutes.

Wixon was involved in a four-man move which ended with Fernando Manuel's deep cross from the right being headed home bravely by Deaney at the far post.

Three minutes later Witham striker Daniel Emmanuel got in between Kilapi and Liam Thomas before he fell under the former's challenge in the box.

However, Joe Pearman fired the spot-kick over as Harlow kept their narrow advantage.

Subsequently, Jacobs had two chances including a one-on-one on 73 minutes which was blocked by home keeper Danny Sambridge.

Harlow retained their composure under pressure and Bossu dived well to keep out an 81st-minute shot from Lewis Godbold.

West-Hook added: "It's a massive three points for us and a really good win. We got the ball into the right areas in the second half. We got behind them and if you get crosses in you will score."

HARLOW TN: Bossu 7, Kilapi 6, Gill 6, Thomas 7, Brown 8, Muguo 6, Knight 5 (Wixon 53 7), Levett 7, Jacobs 5 (Kass 83), Manuel 6, Deaney 7 (Dobson 75). Sub not used: Tamai. Att: 140.

One more win can seal promotion

HARLOW Cricket Club's second team must beat fellow promotion chasers Southend-on-Sea & EMT (Ecko Monarchs & Trojans) at home this Saturday to ensure promotion.

Two sides are set to be promoted from division two of the Shepherd Neame Essex League from the 10-team division.

With up to 25 points for a win, four sides are still in contention for promotion.

CRICKET ROUND-UP

Leaders Orsett have 246 points, second-placed Harlow have 240 and third-placed Wickford are on 234 points, while fourth-placed team Southend-on-Sea have 231.

Irrespective of what happens in the other matches involving Orsett and Wickford, Harlow will know that victory will guarantee promotion.

In their penultimate match five days ago, Harlow II (191-5) beat West Essex II away (189) by five wickets.

The victory was marked by a fine all-round performance from Anthony Webb, who took 4-32 before scoring 54 not out with the bat.

Although Potter Street II (181-9) lost their last game to Ilford Catholics II (182-4) by six wickets they gained enough bonus points (6) to clinch promotion from division six of the Herts &

Essex Cricket League.

Other results:- Shepherd Neame Essex League 2nd XI div three: Harlow Tn II 171 lost to Billericay 174-9 by 1 wkt; 3rd XI div two: Harlow III (258-4; Soulat Ali 100 not out) bt Leigh-on-Sea III (35; Niall Lawless 6-27, Soulat Ali 4-4 and 35) by 225 runs; 3rd XI div three: Harlow Tn III 164 lost to Belhus III 222-7 (Tom Wilcox 5-45) by 58 runs; 4th XI div two: Harlow Tn IV 135 lost to Belhus IV 198-6 by 63 runs; Harlow IV w/o v Leigh-on-Sea IV (unable to raise a side). Herts & Essex Cricket League div three: Potter Street (94) lost to Willingale (202) by 108 runs.

Harlow hiatus a mixed blessing

IT is a mixed blessing for Harlow Town FC boss Danny Chapman that his team now face a two-week break from competitive action.

As the Hawks were knocked out in the preliminary round of the FA Cup 12 days ago this Saturday is a blank date.

Harlow are next in action when they take on Brentwood Town away in the preliminary round of the FA Trophy a week on Saturday.

Chapman said: "We would like to keep the momentum going after a win [1-0 at Witham Town] but it does give us extra time for players with injuries."

"Mark Taylor [hamstring injury] would not have been fit if we had played this Saturday, but he could be involved [against Brentwood]."

He added: "Piers Wixon will be involved [against Brentwood], but I do not know whether he will start. However, Donny Barnard [groin injury] will be out for four weeks."

Chapman revealed that as Harlow have no reserve team this year he has struck up an arrangement with Enfield 1893 boss Gordon Boateng for players to have game time with the Essex Senior League club.

Chapman also revealed central midfielder Danny Charles may go out on loan to Spartan South Midlands League club St Margaretsbury.

Due to the FA Cup first round this Saturday the league game, also against Brentwood, was postponed and this will now take place on Tuesday October 2.

Stort's grand haul at Southend Farm

TWENTY-five Stort Valley Angling Society members travelled to the picturesque fishery Southend Farm in Waltham Abbey.

A magnificent total weight of 671lbs 10ozs was banked, with match secretary Steve Beehan netting 115lbs, 8ozs of carp and bream to claim top spot.

His dad, Bill, was second with 68lbs, 6ozs and this was just under 7lbs ahead of Kevin Shaw who was in third place.

Top junior was Shaun Dodson with 2lbs, 1oz.

The Harlow club's matchmen kept up their good work from last season with a team of Gary Cruse, Kevin Shaw, Malcolm Gregg and Roy Deadman sealing a fine victory in the London Anglers' Association Canal Benevolent Trophy match, which took place on the Grand Union Canal in Hertfordshire.

A long journey to the river Rother near Ashford in Kent saw a very disappointing 45lbs, 5ozs weighed in by the 15 members present.

Brothers Gary and Danny Cruse claimed top spots with 14lbs 7ozs and 5lbs 5ozs respectively.

Steve Beehan was third with 4lbs, 6ozs.

Brett Roberts was top junior on this occasion.

Physio named Hawks No.2

West Hook had a brief spell away from the club after he left at the end of the 2008-09 campaign during Anthony Anstead's ill-fated spell in charge at Barrows farm.

West Hook was at Blue Square Bet South side Boreham Wood briefly and then at Waltham Abbey before he answered Tom Cunningham's call to come back to Harlow.

"I love the club and when Tom Cunningham rang me I had to come back. If he asked me to sweep the floor I would do it," he said.

AROUND 60 youngsters got the benefit of a master class by five coaches from Aviva Premiership club Saracens at Harlow Rugby Club.

The Hertfordshire club's schools and development coach, Alex Austerbery, led the coaching team who guided youngsters aged 6 to 16 on passing and angles of running at the Elizabeth Way club.

For those aged 10 and above, tackling skills were also worked on and games were arranged for keen youngsters.

Harlow RFC secretary, Ken Potter, said: "The day went extremely well and we had good feedback from the children and parents. We hope to arrange another one at Easter."

Harlow Rugby Club have a partnership arrangement with Saracens.

This also enables Rams' junior and senior coaches to attend classes run by Saracens at their training base in mid-Herts.

Youngsters from Harlow have also been invited to be guards of honour once a year. They line up ahead of Saracens' home games at Watford FC.

Watching Paralympics Chiassaro's bitter pill

Athlete left out of GB team dumbfounded by lack of track success

david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RICHARD Chiassaro has found it bitterly frustrating sitting out the London 2012 Paralympics, while he has watched rivals fail to meet some of the top times he has produced this year.

The 30-year-old wheelchair-bound athlete, from Harlow, was deemed 'not medal potential' when he was surprisingly omitted from the T54 100m men's category in the Games by the British Paralympic Association (BPA).

But the day after he was left out of the team he was asked to represent GB in the London Disability Grand Prix in July!

Chiassaro blasted: "I'm not racing at the Paralympics because I'm not medal potential?"

"Well as far as I have seen three British athletes who have not made it out of their heats which to me is not medal potential either.

"Why were they selected and not me? Maybe the selectors should worry about consistency in their selection policy as much as they do in the athletes."

Chiassaro, who also coaches disabled people at Harlow's Mark Hall Sportscentre, set a personal best (PB) time of 14.67 seconds in the T54 100m at the BWA National Track Championships in May.

This time would have given him sixth spot in the T54 100m final at the Paralympics.

At Stratford, the T54 100m final was won by Finland's Leo Pekka Tahti in 13.79s.

Netherlands competitor Kenny van Weeghel came last in 14.77s, while Thailand's Saichon Konjen came third in 14.10s.

No British competitor was entered for this event.

DISAPPOINTED: Harlow athlete Richard Chiassaro

Meanwhile, on the track ParalympicsGB has enjoyed some success but not when in comparison with the Olympics, although gold medal winners David Weir and Mickey Bushell have excelled in their categories.

An internet campaign was launched in the summer after Chiassaro was snubbed for the 49-person ParalympicsGB team.

The athlete, of Seymours, appealed over his axe by the BPA but this was immediately rejected.

Chiassaro, who has spina bifida, has twice recorded the Paralympic qualifying standard time (14.9 seconds) for the T54 100 metres event this year.

Chiassaro also represented GB in the BT Paralympic World Cup in May, winning the gold medal in 15.04 seconds.

The BPA decided not to enter a Great Britain athlete in the T54 100m, preferring to concentrate on categories where it felt it had a better chance of a medal.

Chiassaro is now targeting the 2016 Paralympics in Brazil, but the experience of competing in this year's event will have stood him in good stead for Rio de Janeiro.

Like Chiassaro, Anne Wafula-Strike, of Willowfield in Harlow, was also left out of the Paralympics by the BPA, despite putting in four years of hard work and training at Mark Hall in preparation for the Games.

The wheelchair-bound athlete, who competed in the 2004 Games in Athens, had hoped to qualify for the T54 event.

Harlow has a proud history of Paralympians from the town.

Along with Wafula-Strike, the town is the home to multi-gold medal winning long-distance runner Noel Thatcher.

The late shooter Isabel Newstead, who also won gold at the Paralympics, called Harlow her home as well.

Murtagh improves club record

RUNNING

STEVE Murtagh registered a personal best (PB) time and improved his own Harlow Running Club veteran 45 record.

The Harlow ace clocked a time of 34 minutes and 44 seconds at the Bedford 10km race.

Murtagh was also the second veteran 45 finisher and 8th overall from 368 finishers in Sunday's event.

Murtagh's previous PB at this distance was 34.44.

He was followed home by club colleague Richard Solomons who finished 116th in 44.40.

Meanwhile, Harlow Running Club member Jamie Jephcott performed excellently at the Kenilworth Half Marathon in Warwickshire on Sunday.

He finished in 35th from 711 finishers in a superb time of 1hr, 27 mins 27 secs.

VISION: Inspired athletes from Harlow could one day be competing at the Olympic Stadium (s)

Athletes inspire new generation

GB's Olympic success sparks search for next Osagie

By DAVID RIMMER

david.rimmer@hertssexnews.co.uk

ATHLETICS coaches in Harlow are confident that the next generation in the town can be inspired by Team GB's tremendous feats at the London 2012 Olympics.

Andrew Osagie, Harlow's most famous 800metre runner set a stirring example by reaching the Olympic final and setting a personal best (PB) time of 1 min 43.77 secs four weeks ago.

This came after the 'super Saturday' when three gold medals were won on the track by heptathlete Jessica Ennis, Greg Rutherford (long jump) and Mo Farah (10,000m).

This success has continued in the Paralympics this week where British athletes have picked up medals in track and field events.

John Stow, 59, a coach for Harlow Athletic Club and Essex, was delighted and convinced it will have an impact.

He said: "Since that gold medal that Mo won [in the 10,000m] two athletes I used to coach have approached me asking to return to my group – one had not run since 2005.

"It [Team GB's success] will definitely have an impact on athletics in the town. Harlow Athletic Club will no doubt gain from this and with the men's team doing so well this year this will help even further."

Stow is confident that there are athletes from Harlow that can prosper in the future.

He said: "These Olympics have reminded me that I have in my group athletes that are potentially future Olympians like Will Snook, an 800m runner who wants to emulate Osagie's times [that] he ran as an under-17.

"Will has so much potential and Canaan Solomon and Molly Gardner have already proved they can win titles at national level.

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE: Coach John Stow and athlete Dawn Jones

"There is also Naomi Harryman who has made great strides this year with hurdling and high jump. In my eyes she has the potential to go a long way. She must be looking at the Olympics in years to come."

Stow added: "In the coming autumn it is imperative that the club engages with the schools around Harlow to capture outstanding talent that is there to be recognised.

"I'm convinced there are outstanding months ahead for athletes in our town given the success of Andrew Osagie who has inspired the whole of Harlow."

Harlow AC coach Nat Fisher, 75, once a distinguished long-distance runner, said numbers participating must improve at the Mark Hall Sportscentre-based club.

Fisher said: "We have to continue after the Olympics and not let things die. There is a waiting list for the young to come into the athletic club.

"The more athletes you can get into it the more of a base you have and the more you can get to the top."

Fisher coaches up to 10 young athletes in the 800m, 1500m and triple jump.

He said: "They were more interested in the Olympics than training during the Games. It will help them to train harder. At the moment it is the younger ones that are more interested.

"When they look at the Olympics and they have a chance of doing that they want to try it. Taking part counts and winning is the icing on the cake."

Regarding Farah's success, Fisher added: "We have gone down a bit over the last few years. Let us hope that the new generation is inspired by it."

Veteran Harlow athlete Dawn Jones, who coaches children for the London Road club, stressed that the support network is crucial.

She explained: "Not only do the athletes have to work hard to succeed but they must have an essential network of support from mum and dad supporting training and competition to schools, clubs and coaches.

"It's as much the parents and grandparents that we need to inspire to keep the enthusiasm going, support the clubs and to make the most of the talent that we have."

score considering their bad start.

In reply, Chingford reached 32 before captain McGregor was clean bowled by Nicky Baxter. Ex-Harlow man Sam Kirnon was then caught off an excellent Andy McGarry bouncer for 13, leaving the score at 57-2.

Lawrence was joined by the league's hard-hitting top run scorer Shabaz Butt and they made the Harlow bowlers toil, taking the score to over 150 and Chingford looked like cruising to victory.

Harlow skipper Luke Heskett removed dangerman Butt for 64 and struck again, removing Shawyer for 0 who was well caught by wicket-keeper Andre Riddell.

Jan took two quick wickets to leave Chingford 178-6 and the game in the balance.

However, with impressive opener Lawrence still at the crease, Chingford remained slight favourites.

The youngster showed great steel and nerves to pass three figures and guide his side home in the final over of the game.

Heskett added: "On other occasions we would have nicked the win. It was a very good game of cricket. Ahmed and Conor both batted really well and their young opener was a revelation."

Gr-eight goal feast for Gallion Youth

GALLION Youth U-9s warmed up for the first ever season in competitive football with an 8-2 friendly victory over Sumners Vipers.

The Harlow-based team took the lead against Vipers on five minutes with a cool finish from striker Kye Partridge.

A second soon followed by midfielder Brad Porter.

Summers pulled a goal back before Gallion, based at Sumners Leisure Centre, made it 3-1 with a great solo effort from central midfielder Sonny Legallienne just before the break.

Vipers made it 3-2 soon after the restart.

Legallienne scoring a tremendous fourth and then a fifth to complete his hat-trick.

Partridge scored twice more to also secure a hat-trick including a great volley, in between Porter firing in a second.

Gallion begin their West Essex & East Herts Youth League campaign this Sunday.

Osagie cuts fine Diamond finish

Athlete misses out on winner's $40,000 but is fourth overall

IN his first competitive race since his electric performance at the Olympic Stadium three weeks ago, Harlow's Andrew Osagie competed in his final Samsung Diamond League meeting of the season in Switzerland.

Both 24-year-old Osagie AND World Record holder and Olympic champion David Rudisha missed out on the prize-winning fund of $40,000 as they were beaten in a thrilling 800 metres race in Zurich.

But Osagie, who finished fourth overall in his debut season in the prestigious Diamond League, can be very proud of his achievements.

A late burst of speed in the final 100m, Osagie's forte, enabled him to seal fifth spot in Switzerland and take two more points in the League.

Osagie, of Northbrooks, later tweeted from Zurich: "Not too bad, couple of scalps tonight including Olympic Bronze medalist [Timothy Kitum]. 5th in 1:44.9. Sorry I couldn't get the #OsagieBoom out there. Finished 4th in the Diamond League I think..!"

The Harlow Athletic Club member has competed all over the world in this season's Diamond League, including Qatar, New York and Monaco.

A surprise on the night came with the defeat of Olympic champion, the Kenyan Rudisha, who had shattered the 800m record to take gold in Stratford three weeks ago in a stunning time of 1 min 40.91.

But Ethiopian Mohammed Aman won in Zurich, beating Rudisha by six metres in a new national record of 1 minute 42.53 seconds, just about a second and a half off the Kenyan's stunning record time at London 2012.

Harlow's Osagie, a former student at Sawbridgeworth's Leventhorpe School, was fifth in 1:44.94, just about a second outside the personal best (PB) time of 1:43.77 which he achieved at the Olympics. The penultimate Diamond League meeting was shown live on BBC2 last Thursday. The final event will take place tonight

GREAT SEASON: Andrew Osagie has had a phenomenal seven months (PA)

(Thursday) in Brussels but will not include the 800m.

Osagie was boxed in early on in Zurich and remained at the back for most of the race, held in awful wet conditions.

He made a late sprint to the line which took him up from 7th to 5th.

Rudisha was second in 1:42.81 and Leonard Kosencha was third.

Olympic bronze medalist Timothy Kitum pulled out of the race with 200 metres to go.

Osagie added: "Bye bye Zurich! First time in Switzerland was good, will have to come back again I think."

This race virtually closed the curtain on a phenomenal year for Osagie, which included a bronze medal at the World Indoor European Championships in Turkey.

He coasted to victory in the London 2012 qualifier in Birmingham and then announced himself to the world with a stunning performance in the Olympic semi-final, before beating his PB in the final in front of 80,000 screaming fans at Stratford.

Harlow need win to avoid drop

Harlow 249-9, Chingford 250-7

Harlow lost by three wickets

Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League, division one north)

HARLOW remain in relegation trouble after slipping to a three-wicket defeat in division one on Saturday as opponents Chingford wrapped up the title.

Ahmed Khawaja made 101 when Harlow batted first and scored 249-9 in their 50 overs. Chingford then scored 250-7 winning with four balls to spare.

Fifteen-year-old Daniel Lawrence made 105 not out for the visitors.

Harlow are three points above Hornchurch so must beat relegated Southend next Saturday in their final match, or avoid a four-point swing to their rivals.

Harlow skipper Luke Heskett said: "It is simple - if we can beat Southend, who are already relegated, we stay in the division. So it is up to all of us to step up to the plate."

Against Chingford, Harlow slipped to 22-3 early on.

Khawaja was first supported by Usman Jan (40) as the pair took the score on to 112-4 when Jan was caught in the deep.

Khawaja then combined with youngster Conor Ramsay who made his maiden first team half century in a stand of over 100 with the experienced all-rounder.

Sukit Bastola made 19 not out as Harlow posted a competitive 249-9, an excellent

Physio named Hawks No.2

PAUL West Hook is relishing the challenge of being assistant manager at Harlow Town FC.

The genial and hard-working 49 year-old was first appointed the club's physio nearly eight years ago.

He takes over the No.2 position left vacant when Christian Wheeler left the club in June.

West-Hook, far right, has combined his physio work with a caretaker role assisting first team boss Danny Chapman since June but that appointment has now been ratified by HTFC owners Platinum Sports Management.

West-Hook, affectionately known as 'Westie' said: "I love the club and would do anything to help."

The new no.2 had nothing but praise for 31-year-old Chapman, who took over as boss in February 2011. "He is very good. He sets how the team is going to play and what he wants," explained West Hook.

West-Hook, who has lived in Harlow for 46 years, is a qualified therapist in treating sports injuries and is also in the final year of a chartered physiotherapy degree.

He said: "Somebody has to be 100 per cent fit regardless of whether you have the best starting eleven. Someone might >>>Cont'd on page 74
